

HSEQ Policy

HSEQ plays an integral role in our success and long-term reputation. The health of our employees and customers, our environmental footprint, and our commitment to quality are important to our business principles. Well Cleanup is committed to meet the requirements of relevant standards, laws, and regulations and continuously improving the quality management system.

Quality

Well Cleanup shall strive to meet customer requirements, needs, and expectations. We aim to be a preferred partner with high expertise with solutions for offshore fluid transfer operations and good business ethics. Our quality standard applies to all employees and our business partners. Our employees are ambassadors for the company's values and management principles.

Health

We shall evaluate and reduce the risks and opportunities of our operations to minimize workplace hazards. We shall monitor the occupational health of our employees.

We shall include and consult workers in relevant HSE issues and processes.

Safety

All employees are authorized to and shall stop work if an unsafe situation arises. We shall manage our activities based on internationally recognized safety standards. We shall eliminate hazards and reduce HSE risks. We will focus on communication and implementation of these standards.
